1. In Tientsin a considerable number (?) of Soviet young men have intimated that rather than be repatriated to the USSR they would attempt illegal entry into Canada and the U.S.
2. The following method of "escape" has been reported: the youth will secure a job checking cargo being unloaded from a Canadian ship at Tangku and attempt to make friends among the ship's crew. If he is successful he may be assisted in stowing away and then may be able to secure some papers, such as a false union card, which can be used when he jumps ship at a safe port. From that port he would be able to sign on with another ship and eventually reach his destination.
